

Emergency Medicine

Assistant, Associate or Full Project or Research Scientist

The Department of Emergency Medicine (<http://emergencymed.ucsd.edu>) at University of California, San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body invites applications from outstanding candidates for a Project or Research Scientist appointment with the UCSD School of Medicine in the Department of Emergency Medicine.

The Department currently operates two Emergency Departments with a combined census of 70,000 patients annually (level 1 trauma center and academic medical center), with a four-year EM residency program (11 residents/year), teaching programs for 1st through 4th year medical students, and robust fellowship programs in Toxicology, Hyperbarics, EMS, Clinical Informatics, Ultrasound, Pediatric EM and Clinical Research. The Department provides excellent opportunities for clinical service, teaching, and research at one of the nation's top-ranked Medical Schools. In addition, the Department has strong inter-departmental collaborations across campus with the Division of Geriatrics, Jacobs School of Engineering, Scripps Institute of Oceanography, and School of Public Health.

The UCSD Department of Emergency Medicine is one of the most academically productive Departments in the specialty in the country with extramural funding from the NIH, NSF, HRSA, RWJF, State of California, DOJ, ACEP-EMF, and Gary and Mary West Health organization focused on research, clinical innovation, and health policy initiatives.

The successful candidate(s) will be able to build on the success at UCSD with the potential for additional collaborations with other Departments in the School of Medicine, as well as across campus with the UCSD Jacobs School of Engineering, and Wertheim School of Public Health.

The selected candidate(s) will be responsible for performing studies and experiments. In addition, successful candidate(s) will analyze, prepare presentations and reports summarizing data. As well as provide onsite teaching to students in the lab.

Candidates must have a MD or PhD in health related fields.
